Where in the World is 1993?

A little history...In 1970, the U District StreetFair was produced as a healing event for a community torn by war protests and civil unrest. Local merchants and community groups created a festival of art and music as a wish for peace and a celebration of life. Now in its 41st year, the U District StreetFair is the longest running festival of its kind in the nation.

This year we will launch Historic StreetFair Trading Postcards featuring images from 20 of the StreetFair poster over the last 40 years. We are missing the poster from 1993 and are launching a hunt for the poster at the Fair this year. There will be prizes for the first person who can produce this poster.

Come Help Us Celebrate!

- FREE event!
- Great people watching
- Wonderful street performers
